

Prof. Jonathan Wong

Jonathan Wong is an Academician of the European Academy of Sciences and Arts, and a top 2% scientist in biotechnology in Stanford University Ranking 2024. He is currently a Top Talent Professor of the Research Centre for Eco-Environmental Engineering of the Dongguan University of Technology, a Professor Emeritus of the Hong Kong Baptist University. He established the Hong Kong Organic Resource Centre in 2003 with funding support from the Agricultural Development Fund of the Agriculture, Fisheries and Conservation Department, which is one of the organization promoting organic certification and organic living in Hong Kong. Jonathan has developed the first third party independent organic certification system and provided organic certification for local farmers and processors. He was bestowed with Medal of Honor and Bronze Bauhinia Star by the Government of Hong Kong Special Administrative Region respectively in 2011 and 2022 for his service and contribution to the Hong Kong environment and organic certification, and was appointed as Justice of Peace in 2013.

